Dear Scott,

Just a note to tell you what an inspiration you have been in my life. Not only as my weight management advisor, but as an inspiration in taking charge of my life and developing my leadership and public speaking skills through the Lunch Bunch Toastmaster Club.

Very seldom in life do we come across a person who actually lives what they preach. You do, and I appreciate that. I know what a struggle it has been for you to maintain your personal weight loss goals. Do you realize how inspiring it is to those of us attending your Weight Watcher meetings to be able to share those struggles with you? It makes the process very real, and our own struggles more manageable.

In our Toastmaster group I have seen you grow and mature as an inspirational speaker. Your willingness to share personal experiences brings your presentations to life and makes them real for others. It has been a real pleasure having you to represent our club at Area, Division and District speaking competitions. Watching and listening to you brings out the best in all of us.

You have also shown your strengths and competence in the advertising arena by marketing our Toastmasters group in the local media. The growth of our club has been a true inspiration to those of us in the club who were watching it slowly shrink and die away, as well as to leaders and local Toastmaster Clubs who are benefiting from your News Releases and advertising efforts.

Thank you for all that you do. Good luck in the pursuit of all your dreams.

Sincerely,
